BARKCLAD
Beautiful Inside & Out

Second generation timber farmer Danny Heatherly started BarkClad 22 years ago in Western North Carolina – the heart of the Appalachian Mountains. During that time, BarkClad in Asheville, NC has built a reputation on delivering the highest quality natural bark wood siding produced in Western NC and supplied across the United States and Canada, providing exceptional customer service every time.

In keeping with their commitment to the environment and their customers,

BarkClad has developed a revolutionary new engineered bark product that looks like natural bark, and has many more advantages. SmartBark is molded from closed-cell polyurethane and then each shingle is individually painted to give each one a slightly different look. The result is a man-made product that will last at least 25 years, add insulative properties to your home, look great and is easier to install and maintain.

Just a few of the advantages of using SmartBark Engineered Siding

Durable and Maintenance Free. SmartBark siding panels are impact resistant and designed for everyday residential and commercial applications. Molded from closed-cell structural polyurethane in our controlled manufacturing facility, our products will stand up to harsh weather and environments and remain fade resistant. This means our SmartBark panels will not rot, crack, scale, shift or experience color changes over time like natural bark siding. SmartBark is washable, paintable, flame resistant and has an R-value of 4.7 per inch. SmartBark saves on energy costs year after year.

Easy Installation. SmartBark siding panels offer significant savings over traditional bark siding by reducing installation labor. Our unique tab system and rain screen fit and match with ease.

SmartBark also does not require bug treatment or a special moisture barrier.

Authenticity. Our artisans, design engineers and manufacturing processes have captured the look of natural bark siding. We take great pride in providing you with a unique, authentic look in a high performance composite building product.

Design Flexibility. Personalize the look of your next project by using SmartBark engineered siding. Our versatile product provides you with design flexibility within your budget. Whether using SmartBark as an accent on gable ends, full house coverage or highlighting a wall on a covered living area, we offer you limitless design flexibility.

and money without sacrificing style.

SmartBark is available exclusively through BarkClad, a leader in the natural bark industry, which means you can count on a best-in-class product and exceptional customer service.

The biggest difference between our two styles is the back of the Elite series and the size. The integrated rain screen allows for air flow behind the SmartBark panel. This engineering feature allows for a longer life of the SmartBark panels and allows your home to “breathe” better.
